IMPEACHMENT TRIAL SYNOPSIS.

In the Senate of the United States, this morning, the Managers appeared and were duly announced. Mr. Nelson was appointed to give pledges in the counsel, and the oath to impartial justice was administered to the Managers in about from the pleadings of the case. Mr. Nelson was appointed to give notice of the Managers to appear before the bar of the Senate.

Mr. Stevens, of counsel for the President, asked that a copy of the Articles of Impeachment be furnished to the counsel for the President, as required by the Constitution.

Mr. Nelson said that he had been appointed to give notice of the appearance of the Managers, but would be entirely pleased to furnish the copy of the Articles of Impeachment.

It was provided with some difficulty that the Articles, as printed in the Congressional Globe, in short form, were sufficient.

Mr. Stevens, of counsel for the President, said that the Articles of Impeachment were not in the form required by the Constitution, and that the Senate could not proceed to trial upon them.
